

EXERCISE - CLASSES AND OBJECTS

Write an object oriented program that performs the following tasks:

1. Define a class called "Employee" and create an instance of that class
2. Create an attribute called name and assign it with a value
3. Change the name you previously defined within a method and call this method by making use of the object you created